

April 3 2012

Light It Up Blue

The month of April brings daffodils, tulips and bumble bees. But did you know that in the month of April, our lights changed to BLUE?

Starting on April 2nd, the Highland Park Public Library is participating in Autism Speak's Light It Up Blue program to promote awareness and raise funds for autism.

Started in April of 2010, Light It Up Blue has grown to having 120 US cities and 30 countries around the world pledge their support to this wonderful program. Since we love to share information with our patrons, we wanted to bring awareness to the entire city of Highland Park by lighting it up blue for the entire month of April. Please come by the Library at night and check us out in blue or go to the Gerbil's Facebook Page to see more photos of the Library all lit up. You can follow the library and light it up blue too, by visiting lightitupblue.org.

YS Reviewers:

RR

Source URL: <http://www.hplibrary.org/kids/blog/lightitupblue>