

February 13 2012

Fallon, Siobhan. You Know When the Men are Gone

This series of interconnected short stories explores the lives of those men and women who make sacrifices for the sake of the U.S. Army—both the soldiers in Iraq and those they leave behind. Centered around the Army base of Ft. Hood in Texas, each story explores the all-too-common issues faced by Army families—from the death of a loved one to infidelity, from loneliness to Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder. While some increased variation in the story's themes might be wished—perhaps the story of a husband left behind when his wife went to war?—these short stories are sure to be fascinating to both those families who have experienced this lifestyle and those who wish to better understand the sacrifices made by our armed forces everyday.

Reserve a copy

RA Blog Categories:

Short Stories

Fiction

Source URL: <https://www.hplibrary.org/bibliofiles/fallon-siobhan-you-know-when-men-are-gone?page=7>