

June 11 2011

Brain Jack

Author:

Brian Falkner

Reading Level: Grades 6+

After accidentally crashing the country's online systems for three days, teenage hacker Sam finds himself recruited and working for Homeland Security - and all he intended to do was use Telecomerica's giant bank account to purchase new state-of-the-art laptops and neuroheadsets for him and his best friend. Suddenly, thrust into the world of professional hacking, Sam begins to unearth information about Telecomerica and the neuro-headsets that go against even his unscrupulous view of privacy.

Check availability of this book

More books by Brian Falkner

A few other suspenseful digital adventures:

Little Brother by Cory Doctorow

Streams of Babel by Carol Plum-Ucci

Hacking Timbuktu by Stephen Davies

The Supernaturalist by Eoin Colfer

Hacking Harvard by Robin Wasserman

Trackers by Patrick Carman

YS Book Level:

6th Grade

7th Grade

8th Grade

YS Locations:

JY Fiction

YS Reviewers:

EF

YS Genres:

Adventure

Books for Boys

Friends

Misfits

Mysteries

Read-Alikes

Relationships

Science Fiction

Spies

---

Source URL: <https://www.hplibrary.org/kids/reviews/brainjack?page=19>