Walter Koeniger (American, b. Germany, 1881-1943)

Winter Scene, date unknown

Oil on canvas mounted

35 x 37 in.

Walter Koeniger was born in Germany and came to the United States around 1910. He became a member of the Woodstock, New York, artists' colony in 1912. Koeniger lived in New York's Catskill Mountains and spent his thirty-year career sketching and painting frozen water scenes around his home. He is known for his paintings of snow-covered landscapes and used fresh, glowing colors to convey the crisp, vigorous mood of his settings.
